YOUR GUIDE TO NATURAL FACE CLEANSERS

If you're shopping for a natural face cleanser, the first step is knowing what your skin type needs. Choosing the wrong cleanser can lead to breakouts, dry skin, and generally worsened skin conditions. Here's what you should be looking for:

Tea Tree Cleanser

Tea tree is anti-bacterial. That means it can calm redness and swelling caused by acne. Herbs like parsley are included as acne-bacteria-killing backup in this seriously purifying anti-acne cleanser.

Blood Orange Cleansing Balm

Made from rich oils of avocado and olive leaf, this skin softening balm bonds gently with your skin. The star here is blood orange oil, which reduces irritation.

Argan Oil Creamy Cleanser

Argan oil won't leave skin feeling greasy. Aloe juice helps to hydrate dry skin when you wash your face just like coconut oil because it helps to moisturise skin.

Charcoal Clay Cleanser

Charcoal has intense detoxifying power, which is why it is made as the star of this cleanser. This cleanser also cuts down on grease with Brazilian black kaolin clay. These two ingredients will help regulate oil production.

Fermented Rice Water Cleanser

Skin that has lost its glow due to environmental damage will benefit from this rejuvenating formula. This cleanser is packed with natural skin care lighteners. They will help you avoid the toxic bleaches while brightening and hydrating skin.

"Being under the sun for hours, I really love Fermented Rice Water Cleanser. My skin has become radiant and pretty."

Louisa, 27,
Food Koala Rider

"Blood Orange Cleansing Balm is a mild non-irritating formulation that is gentle to my easily-damaged skin."

Fred, 36,
Secretary
